PLACES OF INTEREST

The capital of Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad is an integral part of the famous twin-city pair of Hyderabad and Secunderabad, which are situated on opposite banks of the Hussain Sagar Lake. Hyderabad has a romantic story behind its birth. Mohammed Quli Qutub Shah, the fifth king of Golconda, founded this city of Bhagyanagar in 1591 for the sake of his lover Bhagmathi. Later he renamed the city as Hyderabad.

The city retains much of the charm associated with its glorious past, while catapulting itself into the 21st century as India's most sought after software centre. In Hyderabad, one can experience a unique blend of the old dominion and rustic charm within the trappings of new age modernity.
